What is a Touch Base Meeting?

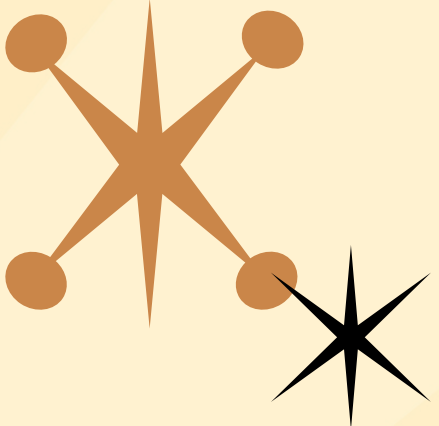

- New strategy for this year
- Intended to be a brief meeting (around 15 minutes) with all roommates in the first weeks of the semester
- Structured, but flexible and informal

Our Goals for Touch Base Meetings

- Briefly check in with every resident
- Connect residents to their RA
- Ensure residents know what supports and resources RAs can offer
- Support residents in completing their roommate agreements
- Provide an opportunity for residents to ask any lingering questions
- Ensure residents are in the Group Chat

Completing Touch Base Meetings

- RAs have lots of flexibility in how they schedule & complete
- Work with your CD/GSA to make a plan that works for you and your residents!

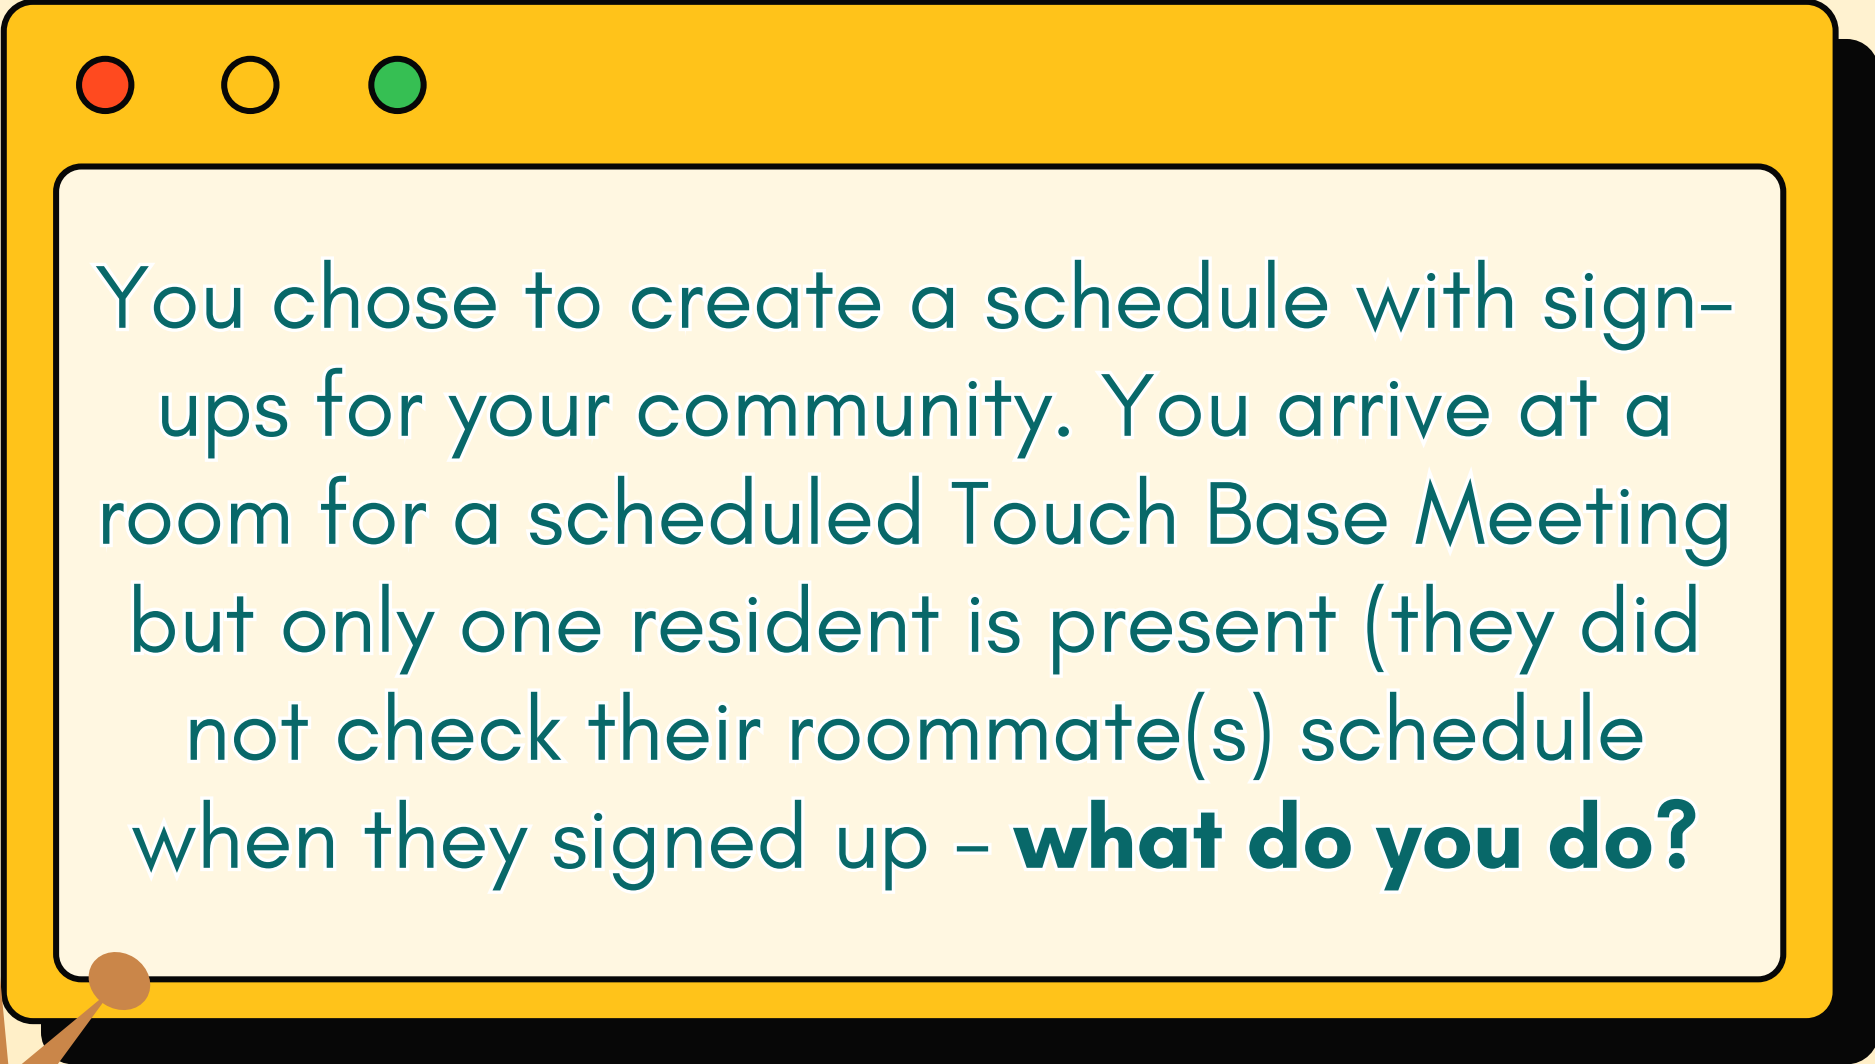

Expectations

- Complete the Touch Base Meeting with all residents
- For single rooms: complete with individual resident
- For rooms with more than 1 resident: complete with all roommates present
 - If this is not possible (due to schedules, etc.), you can complete with roommates at separate times
- Prepare appropriately
 - Regularly check Roommate Agreement completion
 - Track group chat membership
 - Review the facilitation guide
 - Practice ahead of time

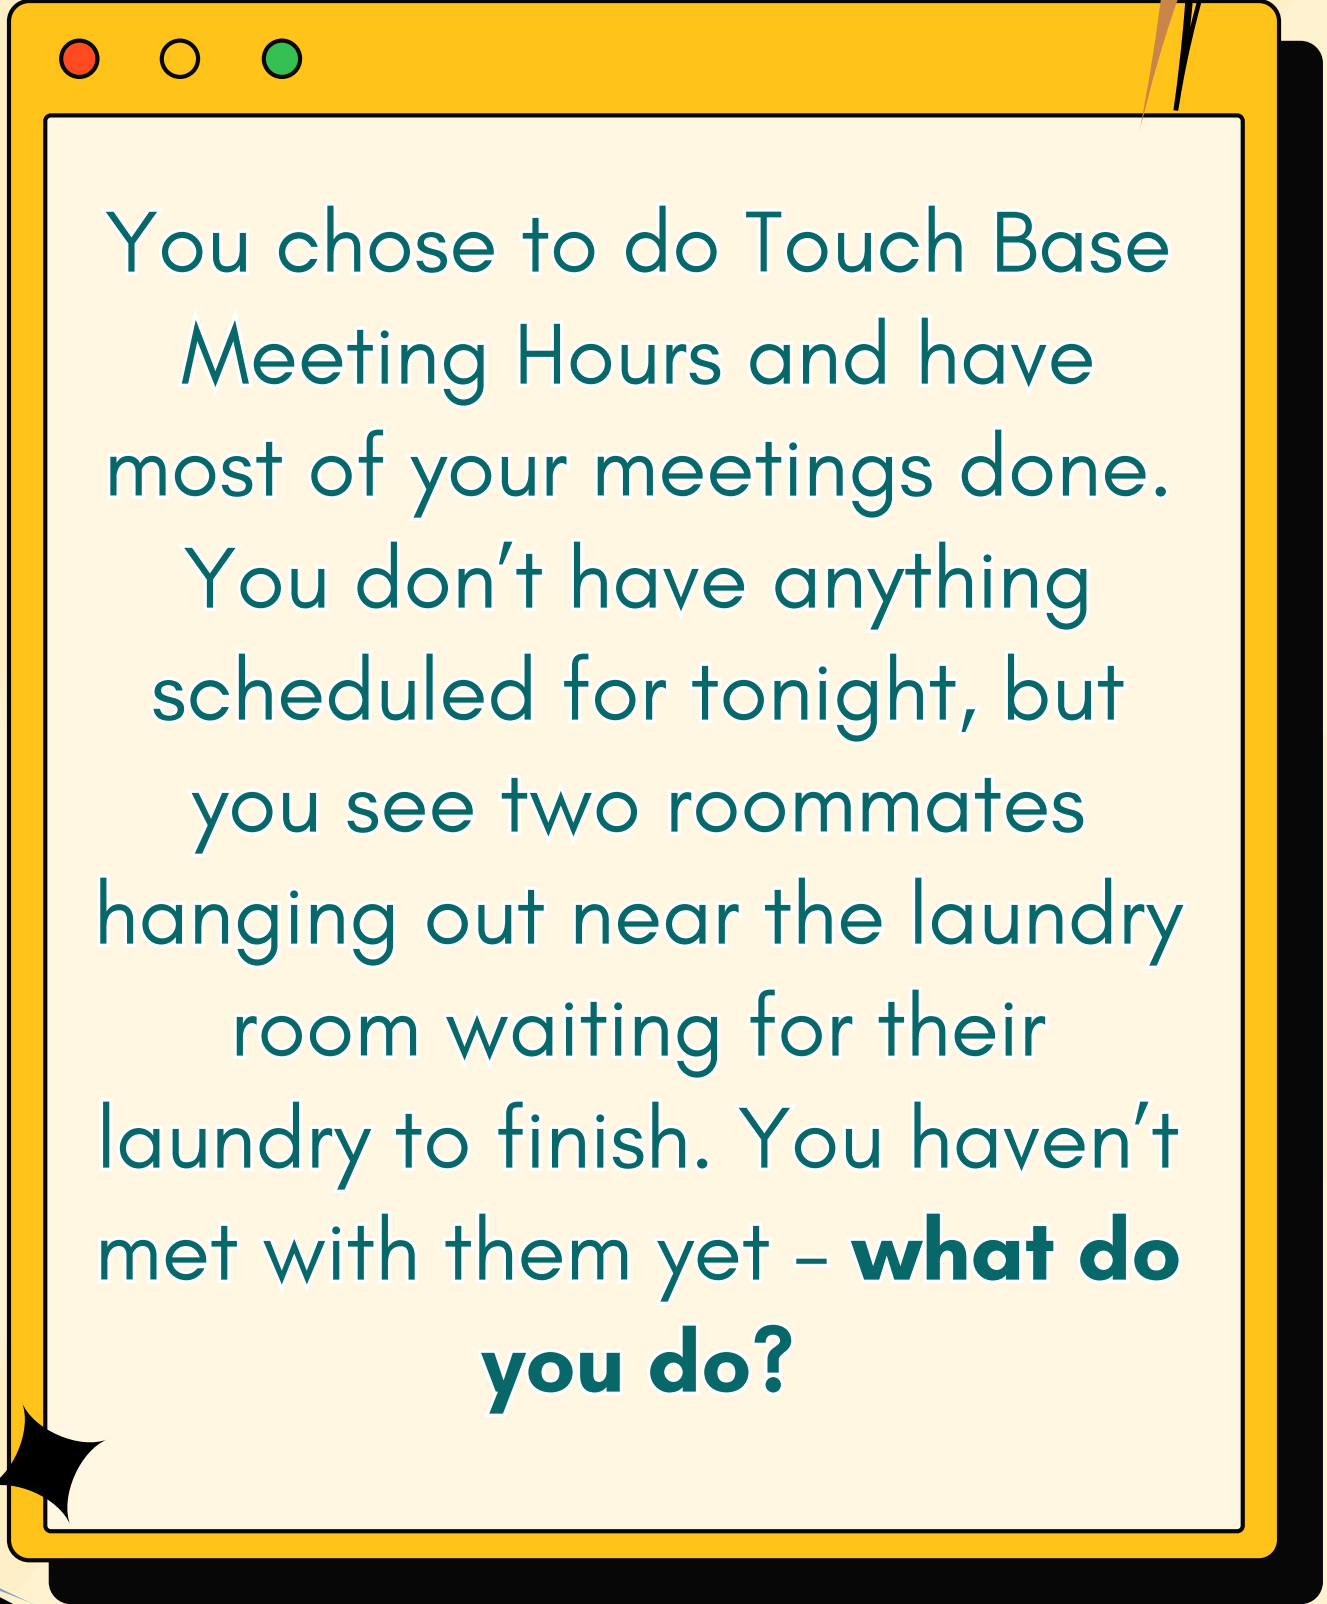

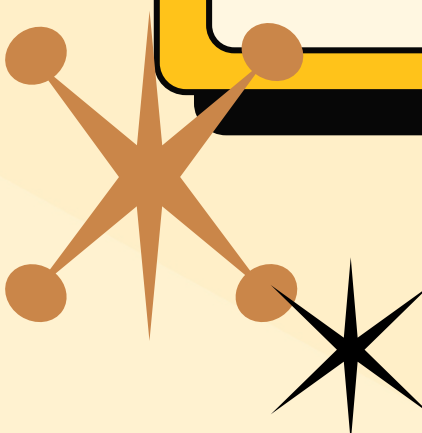

Options!

- Hold “Touch Base Meeting Hours”
 - Residents come meet you in a common area
 - You knock on resident doors and complete
- Schedule Touch Base Meetings with Bookings / other sign-up link
- Impromptu: not scheduled, but everyone is present
 - Note: this should not be your primary plan, but something you can do as needed to complete your meetings if you are adequately prepared in the moment

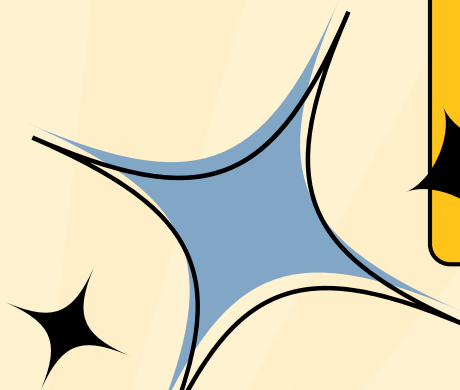

Examples

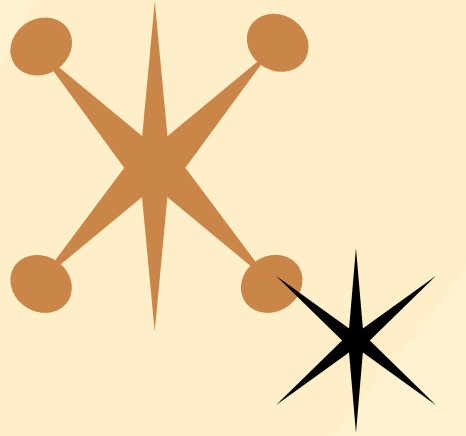

You chose to create a schedule with sign-ups for your community. You arrive at a room for a scheduled Touch Base Meeting but only one resident is present (they did not check their roommate(s) schedule when they signed up – what do you do?)

You chose to do Touch Base Meeting Hours and have most of your meetings done. You don't have anything scheduled for tonight, but you see two roommates hanging out near the laundry room waiting for their laundry to finish. You haven't met with them yet – what do you do?
